Elections

- Steering Committee
  - setting the technical direction of the ClearlyDefined project, establishing main goals and identifying key technical priorities;
  - overseeing all processes (harvest, curate, contribute, serve), ensuring that the underlying architecture enables these processes to run smoothly;
  - empowering the community (data curator, data contributor, data consumer, and code committer/maintainer), providing all the technical support necessary to achieve ClearlyDefined's mission;
  - establishing open collaboration with adjacent projects that are part of the ecosystem.

Elections

- Outreach Committee
  - planning and executing efforts to promote the ClearlyDefined project to potential users and contributors;
  - organizing activities across events worldwide, both virtual and in person, to bring together existing community members and attract new ones;
  - creating educational material (documentation, whitepapers, webinars, podcasts, etc) to help individuals and companies understand how to use and contribute to the ClearlyDefined project;
  - managing communication across different channels (website, blog, social media, and press releases).
